

I choose to use my prezi related to classroom management as evidence to demonstrate my knowledge of this standard. This prezi was developed as a way to share classroom management tips with teacher for grades K-7. This prezi has a lot of useful tips and attention grabbers that can be used within the classroom. Without classroom management skills, it is hard to teach. Over the course of my practicums, I have learnt that not all management tips and attention grabbers will work for all classes, though with saying that I also learnt that it is okay to try something new or combined more than one strategy. Ultimately in order to teach the teacher has to be the one in control. I feel that with all that comes with teaching, thinking of attention grabbing tips can be put on the backburner, due to this I decided to create a list of simple attention grabbers to be shared with teachers everywhere. I am a strong believer of not recreating the wheel, but instead sharing resources and ideas around. As a teacher our lives are often very busy and filled with lesson planning, assessment and connecting with our students on an individual and personal level. By sharing resources and ideas, I believe we can limit some of the stress that comes with teaching and ultimately eliminate burnout for teachers, both new to the profession and those that have been teaching for years.
